

65??? 66??? Who cares – we're in love!

Harry and Mavis are clearly in love and have been for years. If a picture paints a thousand words then the photo here says it all.

It's close to 70 years ago that Harry walked in to the local dance and, as the story goes, Mavis took one look at this man and said "I'm going to get that bloke" and she did. As Harry said in his moving speech... "and she's still got me".

Because circumstances prevented Harry and Mavis from celebrating the milestone 65th anniversary on the day and so family and friends gathered at TLC Aged Care's Homewood in Hallam to mark this very special occasion.

And what an extended family it is... 5 children, 11 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. Add to this the residents and staff of Homewood and they have a huge family... all with one word on their minds... Congratulations!

TLC founder and Chairman Dr John Leaper visited Harry and Mavis to congratulate the happy couple and pass on his best wishes. Both of Dr Leaper's parents were residents with TLC. And John said that "Harry and Mavis epitomise the family values, the love, care and compassion that TLC strive for.
